A narrative-style deck partners can walk prospects through in 20 minutes.

1. The problem

Modern SRE teams spend more time gluing tools together than resolving incidents. A typical stack includes PagerDuty, Datadog, OpsGenie, a runbook wiki, a status page vendor, and half a dozen Slack integrations. The bill is six figures before the engineers have written a single runbook.

2. The cost of fragmentation

- $100-500K/yr in observability spend for a mid-sized SaaS.
- Mean time to resolution stuck at 40+ minutes because context lives across four tools.
- On-call engineers burn out swivel-chairing between dashboards.
- No correlation between metric anomalies, traces, logs, and incident timelines.

3. What we built

SREonCall is a single multi-tenant platform that unifies everything an SRE team needs:

1. On-call & incidents — schedules, escalations, runbooks, post-mortems.
2. Observability — managed LGTM stack (Mimir, Loki, Tempo) with per-tenant quotas.
3. Synthetic checks — global probes with SSRF-hardened execution.
4. AI agents — Claude-powered triage, runbook automation, on-call assist.
5. Status pages — branded public pages with subscriber notifications.
6. Provider control plane — cross-tenant visibility for MSPs.

4. How it's different

	SREONCALL	DATADOG + PD	GROUNDCOVER

5. Customer stories

- Alyssum Group — replaced Datadog + PagerDuty + Statuspage, cut tooling spend by 58%.

- Binoloop — MSP managing 40 customer tenants on a single SREonCall instance.
- Packengers — migrated from self-hosted Prometheus to SREonCall managed LGTM in one weekend.

6. Commercials

Start at $49/mo (Startup) and scale to custom Enterprise. Partners get:

- Referral: 15% Y1 / 7.5% Y2+, paid quarterly.
- Reseller: 35% Y1 / 30% Y2 / 25% Y3+ margin on list.
- MSP: 40% flat platform share + 80% on managed services.
